

Conditions of use

1.) „I agree to my data being saved and to Drägerwerk AG or Dräger Safety AG & Co. KGaA sending me company or product information from time to time, also to my eMail address stated above. Accordingly, I agree to the data I have entered in the registration form for this game as well as the data entered in the contract form being saved while protecting my protectable interests, and forwarded to Dräger Group companies for advertising purposes. I can withdraw this consent with future effect at any time by sending an email to support@wmteam.de requesting the withdrawal.”

2.) The Dräger websites, their design, texts, pictures, graphic elements, databases, animation files and downloads of any kind (summarised as "content") are protected by copyright. The websites or parts thereof must not be duplicated, changed, downloaded or used on any other websites, unless Dräger tells the user to proceed otherwise or consents to duplication or use in writing or by eMail. Dräger reserves all rights, in particular copyright, competition and proprietary right claims arising from the illicit use of the Dräger websites or parts thereof together with the registered trademarks.

3.) You are responsible for ensuring that the applications you use to access the Dräger websites are free of viruses. Use of the internet is involved with risks resulting from public access and the possibility of unauthorised third-party influence on the contents, and you have accepted these risks by using the internet. Dräger is not liable for any damage resulting from the realisation of these risks when using the Dräger websites or any linked website, unless Dräger is responsible for the risk and its realisation. In particular Dräger is not liable for stoppages or any loss of programs or other data in your IT systems.

All legal transactions resulting from and in the context of using the Dräger websites are subject to German law, precluding the UN Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods.